CRS 2022: A Preview

Next month, Country Radio Seminar (CRS) returns to a live, in-person event to mark its 53rd installment. CRB Exec. Dir. RJ Curtis, Agenda Committee Chairman Brent Michaels (KUZZ/Bakersfield) and Vice Chair Joey Tack (WLHK/Indianapolis) tell Country Aircheck what to expect when the event kicks off in about seven weeks.

Stream A Little Stream: "From top to bottom, this agenda and slate of events is packed with opportunities for attendees," says Curtis. The Streaming Summit, which debuted during last year's CRS 2021: The Virtual Experience, returns and occupies the opening day of CRS 2022. Topics will include an introduction to Chartmetric, Twitch and livestreaming for radio, music discovery through streaming and the highly touted "Talk Data To Me" panel. "That session is on my personal list of can't-miss panels," says Michaels. Tack adds, "The Streaming Summit day is not just for the digital and DSP providers but will have fantastic information for programmers and personalities, as well." Unlike recent years, the Wednesday slate of events will begin at 8am CT with a Streaming Breakfast & Streaming Terms event. The Warner luncheon also returns to its Wednesday slot, becoming the first of three label luncheons.

The new Heads Of State series was previewed in a September CRS 360 session (CAT 9/10/21). "These fireside chats will offer an intimate, two-on-one conversation between our expert moderators and some of the key figures in our industry, paired off with one radio head and one label head per discussion," Curtis explains. Previously announced participants include Beasley CEO Caroline Beasley, Hubbard CEO Ginny Morris, Alpha CEO Bob Proffitt, Townsquare CEO Bill Wilson, BMLG Pres./CEO Scott Borchetta, UMG/Nashville Chairman/CEO Mike Dungan, WMN Chairman/CEO John Esposito, Sony/Nashville Chairman/CEO Randy Goodman, BMG/Nashville Pres. Jon Loba, Audacy Pres./CEO David Field and iHeartMedia CEO Bob Pittman. Moderators are RAB's Erica Farber, Country Aircheck's Lon Helton, McVay Media's Mike McVay and All Access' Joel Denver.

Learn Notice: Thursday sees the return of both the Believers Breakfast and the Programming Mentoring Breakfast before educational sessions on networking, social anxiety, rethinking revenue and audience analysis. "I'm looking forward to the 'Reality Check: Who Is The Country Music Fan' panel Thursday afternoon; I think it'll be a great gut-check for programmers as we take a closer look at who makes up our listening audience," says Michaels. Curtis touts the annual CRS Research Presentation, which will also be unveiled Thursday. "We've taken care to not

FOR YOUR GRAMMY® CONSIDERATION

Wow -

To represent country music as a nominee in an all-genre category is mind blowing.

When I started this music journey, and still today, my purpose was to make music I love hoping it inspires people.

So, with this GRAMMY nomination, I hope it really shines a spotlight on country music, shows people that it's about the music, and that country music accepts all people. Doesn't matter what you look like or where you're from.

To everyone that voted for me — thank you.
And to everyone that intends on voting for me in this category — thank you in advance.

I am proud and grateful to be able to stand amongst these talented Best New Artist nominees and be the face of country music in this category.

Love yourself, love those around you.

schedule mass-appeal panels at concurrent times; our key sessions will be stand-alone," he states. Team UMG At The Ryman will hold its now-traditional Thursday luncheon spot, and Bob Kingsley's Acoustic Alley rounds out the day.

The Women's Mentoring Breakfast and Label Mentoring Breakfast return on CRS Friday. "Our lineup of breakfasts has become a staple, and the Women's Mentoring Breakfast may be our most-attended each year," notes Michaels. "And following the breakfasts, Friday goes straight into some sessions we've either never tackled or haven't addressed in a long time." Among the topics are dealing with imposter syndrome, creating commercials that keep listeners from punching out, emotional intelligence in leadership and the business of touring. "I'm also interested to hear the takeaways during 'Who's Your Data,' which will be during the Friday morning portion of CRS," says Tack. "As an on-air talent with a programming mind, I always appreciate any insights into who my listeners are and how they operate."

Also Friday is the BMLG label luncheon and a featured artist interview with Warner/WMN's Blake Shelton (CAT 8/16/21). "Attendees have come to love the artist interviews, and having Blake Shelton on stage is sure to be enlightening and entertaining," says Curtis. CRS 2022 will conclude with the already-sold-out New Faces Of Country Music dinner and performance featuring Warner/WAR's Gabby Barrett, Monument's Walker Hayes, MCA's Parker McCollum, River House/Columbia's Jameson Rodgers and Broken Bow's Lainey Wilson, as voted upon by the industry (CAT 12/6/21).

Hall Access Pass: In addition to the educational agenda and luncheons, the week will include the return of hallway experiences and showcases as part of the return to in-person attendance. A slate of pre-event workshops and clinics will also be offered for professional development, and the next class of inductees to the Country Radio Hall of Fame will be revealed. Additionally, this year not only offers the opportunity for three first-time attendees to take part via the Rusty Walker Scholarship, but also sees the inaugural Lisa McKay Women In Radio Scholarship bestow attendance awards to two. A special emphasis will also be placed on student attendees with separate receptions and showcases. "Top-to-bottom, this may be one of the most well-rounded years we've had at CRS," says Curtis. "And, I can't oversell the excitement that's building for a return to in-person." More speakers, panelists and mentors will be announced in coming weeks, leading up to what Michaels deems "the most anticipated CRS I can personally remember."

Feeling '22: Aside from their aforementioned recommendations, the trio each offer one must-see session according to their personal preferences. "Streaming Mythbusters: Streaming Fraud & Radio vs. DSP" is going to be honest, candid and eye-opening, and is absolutely one of the most intriguing segments of The Streaming Summit," shares Michaels. Tack recommends "I'm A Fraud: Dealing With Imposter Syndrome," saying, "I didn't even know what to call it until fairly recently, but Imposter Syndrome is something I've struggled with my entire life, and I know this panel will open a lot of my peers' eyes about what it is, how to handle it, and how long they may have been dealing with something none of us talk about nearly enough." Curtis points to a nuts-and-bolts session on networking, "The Net Worth Of Networking." "The information and 'life hacks' presented during this session will lay a strong foundation for navigating CRS during the week, but it will also help attendees become more confident in their networking skills and abilities in any situation – in person, online and in both personal and professional settings."
