

COUNTRY AIRCHECK WEEKLY

July 11, 2022, Issue 815

Market Analysis: The Facts, Jax

Jacksonville may not jump to mind as one of Country's strongest markets, but the format earned 16.8 shares in the May Nielsen PPMs, placing it second only to Nashville (which has one more station contributing). iHeartMedia WQIK clocked an 8.9 share – off just one tenth from April's 9.0, which was its largest in more than four years – while Renda WGNE leapt 6.6 to 7.9 for the largest share in that station's 22-year history. Crucially, the stations have generated ratings in the money demo – with both finishing top five Persons 25-54 four out of the past five months. Mediabase data shows WQIK's airplay ratio is 41% current, 36% gold and 23% recurrent, while WGNE is 35% current, 33% recurrent and 32% gold (see Airplay Composition graphs, pg. 9; this week's current airplay on Chart Page 4).

A further sign of the stations' strength is each has managed to top the market in the 25-54 demo in the last three months. Among 18-34s, WGNE has had the format lead in all five months this year, while WQIK has led in the 35-64 demo all year.

The WQIK call letters have been playing Country music in Jacksonville – first on AM, then on FM – since 1957. While PD Cindy Spicer declined to comment for this feature, it's clear that heritage coupled with consistent talent factor into the station's success. Morning host Robbie Rose has been on the air in the market nearly 50 years – the last 20 on 'QIK. MD John Scott has been with the station 30 years, the last 10 in mornings;

KRTY: How It Started, How It's Going

Three weeks in to the new streaming-only KRTY(.com)/San Jose, and much has changed ... but much hasn't. Prior to signing off the 95.3 broadcast signal (CAT 6/17), the station changed its on-air "95.3 KRTY San Jose Hot Country" position to "KRTY.com Legendary Country" to reinforce its market heritage. Music and programming, however, are virtually unchanged.

Being freed of the broadcast signal hasn't made for much boundary breaking – one launch-day use of the word "shit" aside. "We never felt constrained by [broadcast rules]," GM Nate Deaton says. "The playlist is identical. We still meet with our music committee of listeners and make decisions." Not reporting to charts has had a small effect. "We can move things around more freely, because we're not reticent about the affect a move back might have on the chart."

Artist sweepers are touting the switch to KRTY.com. "Everyone from Keith Urban to Parmalee," Deaton says. "We've got 30 of them running in front of every current." Shifts are being tracked "so we're not doing call-in contesting yet. That will start soon with giveaways."

Sales are a different story. The station deliberately didn't do any selling for its first month of operation. "There are a couple reasons," Deaton explains. "First, I didn't know what to tell advertisers about audience. Also, all the jocks are volunteering their time for the first 30 days, and it didn't seem right to generate revenue without paying people." Longtime clients have been comped ads on the website as well as sweepers.

When sales do ramp up, they won't follow a typical broadcast schedule. "We're looking at it as a streaming or Pandora model, rather than a radio model," Deaton says. "We'll sell by the hour, and our listener numbers show sessions-starts beginning from 6:30-7am and staying steady through about 3pm. That's eight hours with three spots falling randomly within each. With that, we think we can generate enough revenue to offset the cost of SoundExchange and pay everyone something."

Another hallmark of KRTY is its events, which are also in transition. Revenue from KRTY shows already on the books falls to the pre-June 17 company, so the new endeavor will begin to generate event revenue with future Rodeo Club and winery show bookings. As for reporting status, Deaton continues to press the issue as far as he can. "In this market, we are a music discovery platform," he says. "And it can't be that hard to monitor a dot-com." Ratings, of course, are another story. "We can see average and peak listening, session starts and everything else you'd see on a Wide Orbit dashboard. More than anything, though, it works. Our loyal advertisers know the results we've gotten for them more than they've cared about a [Nielsen] number. They're the ones who will support this."

As to early impact, Deaton points to a recent community service campaign for Little League Challenger, an adaptive baseball program for physically and intellectually challenged youth. "One of the local teams was selected to play in Williamsport, PA, and we raised funds to help their trip," he says. "And that's another hook for local advertisers in terms of connection to the community."

"It's going as well as can be expected," Deaton sums. "Listener feedback is great, but getting people to change that habit and move out of their comfort zone is definitely a challenge. Thankfully, our listeners are embracing it, and we're working the plan so far." Reach Deaton here.

Chart Chat

Congratulations to Morgan Wallen, Stacy Blythe, Ali Matkosky and the Big Loud promotion team on holding at No. 1 for a third week with "Wasted On You." This is the second No. 1 to spend three or more weeks atop the chart this year and just the fifth this decade. Songwriters are Ernest K. Smith, Josh Thompson, Ryan Vojtesak and Wallen.

and Spicer has been handling afternoons for 10 years, eight of those as PD. The only recent change to that lineup came with last month's departure of 19-year morning co-host Toni Foxx. See Country Aircheck's 2017 profile of WQIK here.

Townie Country: Meanwhile, WGNE's growth has been especially sweet for OM/PD Todd Shannon, who came on board in December. Shannon previously spent a decade at the crosstown Cox cluster and succinctly sums up his first six months in Country, "This is the most fun I've had in a long time."

"I told my boss [MM/GM] Bill Berry, 'If I get back into radio, it's got to be fun, and I've got to be able to institute my culture,'" says Shannon. "If we have fun in the building, it's going to translate over the airwaves and make a difference. That positivity has lifted both WGNE and [AC sister] WEJZ. Bill instituted his culture when he arrived five years ago, and we're in complete alignment in the way you treat people. I just helped accelerate that."

Shannon grew up in the city and was familiar with the iconic WQIK, as well as the potential for strong competition. While WGNE has less power – 48,000 watts to WQIK's 100,000 watts –

Shannon was challenged with reconfiguring WGNE's Your Hometown Morning Show from three hosts to two (Eden Kendall and Amadeus Solo) following the April departure of 15-year station vet Steve Sutton. "Eden is so committed to the station and is a social media maven," Shannon says. "Amadeus is not only co-host, but he is promotions director for the cluster; he brings a lot to the mic. The two of them naturally have fun together."

here. We are blessed with a lot of research, and our consultant Joel Raab gives us a lot of insight. I'm fortunate to have [MD] Brian Jordan, who's been here a number of years. It didn't take me long to figure out he really gets it."

Shannon likes where Country is, musically and in its relationship to listeners, versus Top 40. "Once you get immersed in this format, you just have this bond. It's unlike Top 40, which is just kind of 'hit and go.' We actually try to build relationships with the listeners, not only on site and on social, but with every one of our breaks." WGNE has updated its imaging to reflect that bond. Examples include, "You know you have the keys to their heart when you have the keys to their truck. 99.9 Gator Country," and "The day you stop looking back is the day you start movin' on. No truer words have ever been spoken, thanks Thomas Rhett. 99.9 Gator Country."

There's only one thing Shannon says he'd do differently: "I wish I'd gone Country many, many years ago, like all the other top 40 guys," he says. "The relationships are different, and the approach is very different. Watching these artists grow from week to week on the charts, it's extremely positive." Reach Shannon here. May 2022 CDM Scoreboard

Here are May 2022 (three-month rolling average, 3/3/22-5/25/22) Nielsen Audio Continuous Diary Measurement (CDM) ratings results listed alphabetically by market. Total shares among subscribers in CDM markets on a same-station basis were down 0.1% month-to-month from 403.0 to 402.7. The number of stations leading their markets fell from 13 to 11. WUSY/Chattanooga's 11.0 share was the largest among CDM markets, with the exception of April, it has topped every month this year. Ranks (in parenthesis) are among subscribers. A "+" indicates a Classic Country outlet; a "t" indicates a tie.
