Entercom Loves Country -- And The Wolf

Entercom wasn’t the first company to let the Wolf loose, but lately it has become the most aggressive in unleashing the beast on unsuspecting marketplaces. The latest incarnation is in Greensboro, NC, where last week the company flipped Oldies WMQX to Country as The Wolf. That puts Entercom at seven Country outlets -- and counting. A bit of history before hearing from Entercom Sr. VP/Programming Pat Paxton about the operator’s newfound love of Country -- and the Wolf.

Entercom has done extremely well with its Country stations. In the Spring 2006 Arbitron (all ranks are 12+), WGGY & WGGI and WBEE were both No. 1 and often hold that top spot. WDAF-FM ranked third and was the No. 1 Country outlet in a three-way FM format battle. KWJJ placed second, behind only CBS Radio’s KUPL. In Seattle, the upstart KKWF ranked sixth.

Explaining Country’s seemingly newfound appeal to Entercom, Sr. VP/Programming Pat Paxton told Country Aircheck, “We’re getting aggressive in markets where it makes sense. Seattle and Greensboro both had one great Country radio station (CBS Radio’s KMPS and Clear Channel’s WTQR, respectively.) But, given the growth of the format, we feel there is more than enough room for two Country stations in these markets. We don’t expect the competition to go away. We expect radio users to win because of more choice and better radio that competition breeds.”

As you might expect, Entercom’s success with KWJJ’s re-launch as The Wolf played a large part in its decisions to go Country in other markets. Asked if the company’s other successes made it more comfortable to go after heritage, market-leading Country stations, Paxton said, “Sure. We seem to have a formula that works, thus we have a high degree of confidence where we choose to do it. [Entercom Dir./Country Programming and KWJJ PD] Mike Moore and [KKFW PD] Scott Mahalick have done masterful jobs in Portland and Seattle against very formidable heritage competitors. I expect Greensboro to follow in their footsteps. We like our odds in the format.”

While Paxton obviously couldn’t comment on upcoming expansion, don’t be surprised if Entercom’s Wolf den grows by a cub or two in the very near future.

Harnen Rises To Capitol Sr. VP

As first reported in the Oct. 5 Country Aircheck Today, Capitol/Nashville VP/Promotion Jimmy Harnen has been promoted to Sr. VP.
DONOVAN CHAPMAN

"HOUSE LIKE THAT"

GOING FOR ADDS OCT. 23RD

"Bright, fresh, up-tempo, positive. I like it!"
-JD Cannon, MD, WFMS/Indianapolis

"How can you go wrong with a great song about strong family values from an artist who deserves to be heard?"
-Trey Cooler, PD, WTQR/Greensboro

"This upbeat, positive song caught my attention right away. It’s a nice, quick dose of good cheer and we didn’t want to wait. We ADDED IT TODAY!"
-Andy Elliott, PD, KHGI and KJJI/Des Moines
Capitol.Nashville President/CEO Mike Dungan said of Harnen, “I challenge anyone to go from zero to sixty as fast as Jimmy -- I get heartburn just watching him. He absolutely rocks!”

Harnen noted, “I am fortunate to be surrounded by the best people in music. From the artists to the staff, we are one big family who works hard and has a lot of fun together. I look forward to more amazing success.”

Harnen assumed the VP mantle in March 2005 with the departure of longtime Capitol EVP/Promotion Bill Catino for UMG/Nashville. Harnen’s prior stops include DreamWorks and Curb/Universal.

Hot Air: Harnen’s promotion is precursor to the long-rumored second imprint for Capitol/Nashville. As Country Aircheck reported several weeks ago, Dungan and Harnen are looking for someone to head a second promotion team. And, look for current Capitol Director/National Promotion Steve Hodges to get a veep leap of his own in the coming weeks.

Google Gets Musical

Internet search provider Google announced on Monday that it has signed distribution deals with Sony BMG and Warner Music Group to provide free music and video services. “Google Video” is expected to roll-out later this month and will be accompanied by advertising. Down the road, Google also plans to let other web sites that participate in its AdSense advertising program place Sony BMG and WMG videos on their own sites, also for free.

Meanwhile, Google has been rumored to be acquiring YouTube, which on Monday struck content deals with Universal Group and Sony BMG. UMG agreed to provide YouTube viewers access to thousands of music videos, adding that its artists will be compensated not just for the official videos, but also for user-generated content that uses Universal’s music. YouTube users will also get content from Sony BMG, which also said it will let users include some catalog songs in their own amateur video uploads.

American General Media News/Talk KAGM/Albuquerque flipped to Classic Country. Veteran Country PD Lee Logan continues with the station in its new format. KAGM will be fully-produced with no airstaff expected, but Logan says the station is “not in its final form.”

CA, Oct. 5: Entercom flipped Oldies WMQX/Greensboro-Winston Salem, NC to Country “93.1 The Wolf” on Oct. 4 at Noon. Oldies PD Randy Bliss will continue as PD.
