Country Doubles Up In NYC

The New York City-based terrestrial Country station long coveted in this format remains as elusive a catch as ever, but last week brought two new players to the stream – both angling for the Big Apple’s underserved country fans (CAT 6/28-7/1). Buckley’s News/Talk WOR-AM/New York added worcountry.com, and Mt. Wilson’s KKGO/Los Angeles launched gocountryny.com.

Clear Channel’s AC WLTW/New York already offers an HD2 country format, which appears to be the company’s iHeartRadio feed. But with WOR’s entry (dubbed “The Elephant”) and GoCountryNY, two major broadcasters seem to be making the bet that in-car internet streaming will beat HD technology to the forefront of consumer usage.

The challenge, of course, is two-fold: finding an audience eager enough for country to seek out an internet stream or smartphone app, and programming a station that’s relevant to New Yorkers. KKGO owner Saul Levine promises to “build on local NY sources for information to broadcast,” in addition to plans for a New York-based studio and marketing. The Elephant, meanwhile, boasts of being “New York’s only locally-programmed Country station” and promises local concert listings, events and artist interaction.

Vote For Ralph and Bob

As indefensible as it is inexplicable, there is not one person in the National Radio Hall Of Fame who gained fame as a career Country broadcaster. Not one. The 24-member Disc Jockey category is devoid of anyone with a Country radio history. The closest the NRHOF comes to honoring inductees with a Country background comes in the 15-member Musical/Variety category...

that includes Gene Autry and the Grand Ole Opry. (The NRHOF inducts shows as well as individuals.)

It is time for those of us in country to do something about this oversight, and we now have two chances to add a little twang to the institution.

The 2010 NRHOF list of nominee includes Ralph Emery in the “Local or Regional-Pioneer” category and Bob Kingsley in the “National-Active” category. If you’ve been in country longer than 10 minutes, you know both of these broadcasters belong in the NRHOF. In fact, their inclusion is long, long overdue.

Country Aircheck would like to suggest you take a moment – right now, in fact – to vote for Ralph and Bob. And, taking a page from his hometown Chicago politics, CA’s Lon Helton suggests you vote early and often. An industry affiliation is not required and one vote per email address is allowed.

Cast your vote by going to www.radiohof.org. If not already registered, you will have to do so. Once registered, you’ll be emailed a Username and Password to get into the voting section, also prominently displayed at the top of the NRHOF’s website. Online voting is underway now and runs through Midnight, Aug. 1. Ralph and Bob need to be in the NRHOF. And we need to help them get there. Vote!

PS: As long as we’re on the soapbox, please also consider casting a vote for the WLS National Barn Dance, which is nominated in the “National-Pioneer” group. The program debuted in 1924 on the day that WLS/Chicago signed-on, preceding the WSM Barn Dance by 18 months and the Grand Ole Opry by almost three years.

Simson To Leave SoundExchange

After 10 years as SoundExchange’s first employee and only Executive Director, John Simson has announced plans to leave the Washington, DC-based digital performing rights organization by the end of the year to return to what he calls “different creative pursuits I’ve been putting off these past few years.”

Prior to SoundExchange, Simson served in artist management, most notably with Mary Chapin Carpenter during her ascent in Country radio. He has been at the forefront of efforts to pass the Performance Royalty Act, which has been approved by committees in both houses of Congress but has a majority of House members opposing it via a non-binding resolution. Simson is expected to stay on until his successor is appointed.
Wayne: There Is An Arizona
Jimmy Wayne celebrated the six-month anniversary of his Meet Me Halfway walk for homeless teens by crossing Arizona state line last Thursday (7/1). “A moment of pride came over me,” Wayne told us Friday (7/2). “I actually walked from Nashville to Arizona. It’s so hard to believe. Half a year has gone by and I look back over it — the memories and friends I’ve made, the experiences — I’m still in awe.” Wayne is roughly 200 miles away from his destination – Phoenix. Follow him the rest of the way and learn more here.

Less than a week in, the stations are clearly a long way from their ultimate goals. Listening to the 3:15pm ET hour Monday (7/6) finds both running jockless, with The Elephant mixing a handful of PSAs in with its positioners, while GoCountryNY is music and interstitials exclusively. Here’s a look at the hour:

The Elephant
- Josh Turner/All Over Me
- Rodney Atkins/Watching You
- Blake Shelton/All About Tonight
- Luke Bryan/Rain Is A Good Thing
- Tracy Lawrence/Find Out Who Your Friends Are
- Jaron & TLR/Pray For You
- Rascal Flatts/Unstoppable
- Josh Thompson/Way Out Here
- Lady Antebellum/Need You Now
- Zac Brown Band/Highway 20 Ride
- Kenny Chesney/George Strait/Shiftwork
- Steel Magnolia/Keep On Loving You
- Alan Jackson/A Woman’s Love
- Brad Paisley/Water
- Taylor Swift/You Belong With Me
- Billy Currington/Pretty Good At Drinkin’ Beer

GoCountryNY
- Keith Anderson/Every Time I Hear Your Name
- Dierks Bentley/Up On The Ridge
- David Lee Murphy/Dust On The Bottle
- Darius Rucker/History In The Making

WOR’s offering is more current-based, while the absence of PSAs let GoCountryNY pack in a bit more music. On the web, The Elephant has a clear edge with the potential to offer local and relevant information, but only because gocurrencyNY.com is still just a place keeper and streaming link.

In sum, New York’s Country upstarts have only just begun laying a musical bed upon which to build truly local radio stations. Whether they’ll make the investment – and get the return – that is required to differentiate their feeds from any other music service remains to be seen. But it looks like it will be interesting. A liner heard on worcountry.com today took a big shot at its competitor: “Those guys on the left coast think they’re New Yorkers – what a bunch of jackasses.” Stay tuned.
