Secrets Of The 20-Plus Club

There are 282 Arbitron-rated markets in America and the majority of them have at least one Country outlet, but three stations really stand out. When a station is pulling 20% of the listening in a market, somebody must be doing something right. This week, Country Aircheck asks the members of the 20-Plus club exactly what something might be.

Emmis’ WTHI/Terre Haute, IN: Even longtime PD/morning host Barry Kent calls the station’s 21.5-27.1 Spring jump “kind of unexpected.” Even for a station with heritage, a long-term staff and deep roots in the community, Kent points first and foremost to WTHI’s core content. “The music this Spring was a great mix of core and new artists,” he says. “I like to break new music and be the first to play it. We showcase new songs by setting them up with production and back-announcing so people know who and what it is. But we also go back and play a Merle Haggard or a Johnny Cash once an hour, too.”

Next, Kent cites the fundamental power of keeping it live and local. “For the last 15 years, we’ve been the only station to provide news and information programs. Everybody else is a jukebox or satellite-programmed. They have no real local ties.”

A Country Radio Hall of Famer, Kent has spent 29 years with the station and his entire career in the market, as has his staff: “Most of us grew up around here, and the listeners grew up with us. We’re a part of the community and their family.”

High Five: Country Aircheck

Five years ago today, we hit “send” on the very first issue of Country Aircheck. When Chuck Aly left my house at five that morning, we had no idea what the future would hold. We literally started with hope, a prayer, a credit card and, as we know today, more friends than we knew. The last five years have been an incredible journey, to say the least. I’m not quite sure what we expected CA to become, but I can tell you it has exceeded all of our expectations. On behalf of all of us – Mary Forest Findley, Kelley Keith, Jeff Green, Mike Page, Lauren Tingle, Gabrielle Graf Palmer, Brad Helton, RJ Curtis, Chuck and me – thank you for an amazing five years. And thanks for your continued support; we couldn’t have done it without you! – Lon Helton

WBTU Honors Local Victim

The effects of the Indiana State Fair stage collapse continue to ripple through the country music, country fan and Country radio communities. And the Aug. 12 tragedy is being felt well beyond the fairgrounds in Indianapolis.

Eighty miles up the road, Oasis/Ft. Wayne, IN GM & Dir./Programming Phil Becker was relieved to learn that WBTU winners were unharmed in the accident, but shared the city’s grief at the passing of resident Alina BigJohnny. The 23 year-old was a graduate of Wayne High School, “which is three minutes from our office,” he says. “Her birthday was one day before the concert.”

The station changed its website banner to display an image of the fairgrounds along with the names of the deceased. Social media icons were similarly updated to acknowledge the State Fair calamity. “The amount of work is small, but it’s meaningful. How do you act like this didn’t happen?” Becker asks. A version of the Band Perry’s “If I Die Young” featuring news clips and comments from concert attendees was produced and played at the start of every hour Sunday (8/14) and Monday (8/15).

Oasis then set up a “Lights For Alina” scholarship, which will be awarded to a Wayne High student. WBTU’s Teri and AJ morning show, along with Top 40 sister WJFX’s morning show, began soliciting donations for the fund last Friday (8/19).

The stations also invited the community to a memorial ceremony that evening, during which 1,000 pink balloons bearing the names of the victims, a Sugarland lyric and a glow stick were released in honor of BigJohnny. (Watch here.)

The already somber event was made even more emotionally challenging following the news that morning that BigJohnny’s best friend, Jennifer Haskell, passed away from injuries sustained at the show they had attended the together.

Hundreds of people attended Friday’s gathering, including members of BigJohnny’s family, who thanked the crowd for its support. PD A.J. Maguire tells Country Aircheck the evening was “magical and emotional.” He says, “Alina’s mother walked
Casey James

19/BNA's Casey James puts an industry spin on the artist interview:

What station did you grow up listening to?

I grew up listening to about seven stations. A few were Dallas-Ft. Worth stations KTFW, KZPS, KEGL and KDGE. I listen to everything and switch it up all the time.

Has a part of the country blown you away?

I’ve wanted to see the country all my life and never really had the chance to travel as much as I have in the last couple years. The Northeast was so beautiful, and I was never expecting that. I thought it would be extremely packed with people and crowded, but even those places are cool. The California coast is breathtaking.

How do you adjust to all the travel on the road?

I don’t mind the travel at all. The only thing that bothers me is being away from my Basset Hounds Buster Douglas James and Daisy Mae James. The ladies who take care of them are really good about sending me pictures and updates.

What is your go-to food stop?

Depends on the part of the country. I’m a big fan of Chik-Fil-A and Panera. I try to eat relatively healthy.

What nasty truck stop food tempts you?

99% of the time, none of it. But the other day, Chester’s fried chicken looked really good, and it really wasn’t. Maybe it had been under the heat lamps for a minute.

Which of your reps is the worst driver?

Chris Waters is hectic. I try to zone out, but if they want to drive 100 mph, we’ll just get there much sooner.

Which is the best driver?

They all have good personalities and good iPods.

If you had to get stuck in any city other than home, which would it be and why?

Depends on what home is. If home is Ft. Worth, then I’d rather get stuck in Nashville than anywhere else. If home is Nashville, I’d rather get stuck in Ft. Worth. One of those two.

Are you a prankster?

Not generally, but if somebody starts stuff, I’ll find a way to teach them a lesson.

Who have you seen live lately who you’ve tried to emulate?

I take everything I can from every show I see. It’s always good to keep your mind open to anything you can learn and anything you like. My mind’s a sponge.

Moments like this will stay with us forever.”

Chart Chat

Congrats to Dierks Bentley, Steve Hodges, Shane Allen and the entire Capitol/Nashville promotion team on scoring this week’s No. 1 with “Am I The Only One.” The chart-topper is the first single from a new album expected early next year. For the Capitol/EMI crew, Bentley’s achievement is not the only one. Beyond the singles chart (three of the top four – see Chart Page 1), the West End bombers also have the No. 1 and No. 2 albums with Luke Bryan and Eric Church, as well as Nos. 1 & 2 on the Add Leaders list – Lady Antebellum and Church. Come on, somebody … put a drink in their hands!

Kent’s morning co-host Frank Rush has been with ‘THI 20 years and in the market for 25. Midday host Diane House has spent the last 15 years with the station but also worked at WTHI-AM in the ‘70s. Afternoon host Eric Michaels is a 10-year vet and was considered the youngster on the staff until the recent hiring of night jock Jeff Reynolds.

Bristol’s WXBQ/Johnson City, TN: Back into the “20+” fraternity after a two-book hiatus, ‘XBQ improved 19.8-22.4 in the Spring survey, its best sweep since Summer ‘10. This was especially impressive when you consider ‘XBQ went through a significant morning show change this year.
In February, 20-year co-host Richard Quillen left to join WAXM/Big Stone Gap, VA. Mark Andrews joined the show in March; he and incumbent Steve Stroud promptly turned in an impressive 20.1 share with adults 25-54, according to the station.
Like WTHI, ‘XBQ has a core of key personnel with a long history at the station, beginning with PD Bill Hagy. He’s worked for Bristol Broadcasting for more than 40 years and has programmed the station since it went Country in 1979. Middayer Reggie Neel has been with the station since the early ‘80s, while afternoon jock Marc Tragler is a 16-year vet. Stroud has logged seven years; evening personality Marcus Brooks has six. GM Roger Bolden has been on the team more than two decades.
Hagy acknowledges the current crop of strong music but adds, “It’s really so much more. We’re fortunate to have been here so long and to have figured out how the market works.” He tells Country Aircheck, “Long before social media as we now know it became so popular, that’s really what we did.”

Clear Channel’s WLLR/Quad Cities, IA-IL: Ranked No. 1 consistently since 1989, WLLR has flirted with a 20-share before, but finally cracked the ceiling with a 19.1-20.2 move this Spring.
“We’re a locally programmed radio station with talent that understands the importance of the listener and really enjoys the customer service aspect,” longtime PD Jim O’Hara says. “And we have the strength of Clear Channel.”
Like its “20+” compatriots, WLLR boasts a long-tenured staff. Morning teamers Pat Leuck and Danilynn Howe have a combined 30 years doing wakeups, and O’Hara is a fixture in middays. “Just as important is never taking the audience for granted,” O’Hara says. “I remind the staff, ‘People don’t have to listen to you. There are a million different ways they can hear Country music out there.’”
O’Hara also points to WLLR’s aggressive approach to social media, spearheaded by afternoon host Jillene and Dir./Promotions Julie Myers. “The keys on Facebook or Twitter for us are putting up content that people really want to read about. We use it to help people because that’s the customer service end of what we do.”
Addressing the strength of current country music, O’Hara says he and longtime MD Ron Evans often discuss the quality they’re seeing. “The writers in this format are awesome,” he says. “Is there a way they haven’t covered life?”

"I saw Edens Edge Friday night, and you couldn’t convince that crowd that the single isn’t a giant hit. These kids have massive talent – and they play flat out Country music. Covering everything from Bluegrass to Gospel to Americana and still managed to cover 'Party in the USA'. What is everyone waiting for? ‘Amen’ is testing POWER at K102, therefore it is!"
